

LIRNEasia @ five:
research --> policy --> knowledge-based economies

Speaker bio: Robin Mansell, PhD

Mansell, Robin, PhD, is a Professor of New Media at the London School of Economics & Political Science (LSE) in the Department of Media and Communications. She is Honorary Professor at the LINK Centre, Wits Graduate School of Public & Development Management, South Africa, as well as Honorary Professor at Science and Technology Policy Research (SPRU), University of Sussex. She was also a Trustee of Institute of Development Studies (IDS), Sussex, 1999-2009, and is an elected academic Governor of the LSE. From 2004 to 2008, she was President of the International Association for Media and Communication Research (IAMCR). Mansell's research and teaching are concerned with the social, economic and policy issues associated with information and communication technologies. Her research examines the integration of new technologies into society, interactions between engineering design and the structure of markets, and sources of regulatory effectiveness and failure.